| Teaser                        | If the adoption of a child living abroad is possible, the adoption applicants are asked by the international placement agency to declare that they are willing to adopt this child. This process must be accompanied.  |
| Volltext                      | If you are interested in adopting a child from abroad and a child can be proposed to you for adoption, you will be asked by the foreign placement agency to submit a declaration in which you state your willingness to adopt this child. A specific form is required for this declaration. The declaration must be "publicly notarized". This notarization can take place in a notary's office or in a youth welfare office. Notarization at a youth welfare office is free of charge. There are costs for notarization at a notary's office. If you agree to adopt the child proposed to you, you are obliged to fully reimburse various public benefits granted for the child. This obligation lasts for a maximum of 6 years and ends when the child is |
