Sachverhalt

You must pass on the VAT for your business to the tax office. In return, however, you can regularly reclaim the input tax, i.e. the VAT on incoming invoices. You calculate the difference in the advance return.
Pre-registration period - general

If the VAT for the previous calendar year was more than EUR 7,500, you must submit monthly advance VAT returns in the current year. If the previous year's tax totaled more than EUR 1,000 to EUR 7,500, you must submit the advance return on a quarterly basis. If it did not exceed EUR 1,000, the tax office can exempt you from submitting advance VAT returns. In this case, you only have to submit an annual return. If there was a surplus in your favor of more than EUR 7,500 for the previous calendar year, you can choose the calendar month as the advance return period instead of the calendar quarter.

Pre-registration period for newly established companies If you, as the founder of a company, take up a professional or commercial activity for the first time, you must submit monthly advance VAT returns in the year the company is founded and in the following calendar year. However, this regulation has been suspended for the years 2021 to 2026, so that quarterly submission of advance VAT returns is also possible. With regard to the determination of the relevant amount limits (see above), the expected tax for the current calendar year is decisive for a newly founded company in the years 2021 to 2026. In the following year, the actual tax of the previous year must be converted into an annual tax. An exemption from submitting advance VAT returns is generally not possible for start-ups in the year of formation and the following calendar year.

You are only not obliged to submit an advance VAT return if

- you only carry out VAT-exempt transactions for which no input tax deduction is possible,
- you apply the small business regulation or
- you make use of the special regulation for flat-rate farmers and foresters.

office with a SEPA direct debit mandate. Any surplus will be refunded to you automatically.

Alternatively, you can also transfer the advance VAT return directly from a commercial tax program to ELSTER via the electronic interface.

Bearbeitungsdauer

Frist

This is a declaration or registration deadline. You must submit the advance VAT returns by the 10th day after the end of the advance return period (month/quarter) at the latest. Upon request, the tax office can extend the deadline for submitting the advance returns and for paying the advance payments by one month (permanent deadline extension). If you submit monthly advance VAT returns, the granting of a permanent extension depends on you making a special advance payment at the beginning of the year.
