Volltext	As a public corporation, the Thuringia Chamber of Engineers has the central task of safeguarding the professional interests of engineers and the reputation of the profession, as well as monitoring the fulfillment of professional obligations. The structure of chamber membership at the Thuringia Chamber of Engineers includes compulsory members and voluntary members. The Chamber of Engineers keeps a list of chamber members, which also includes the list of voluntary members. In contrast to the mandatory professional practice or professional experience required for compulsory members, this is not a requirement for voluntary membership of the Thuringia Chamber of Engineers. The aim of this is to give newcomers to the profession who are entitled to use the protected professional title of "engineer" on the basis of completed professional qualifications and who do not yet have sufficient professional experience the opportunity to join the Thuringia Chamber of Engineers as a voluntary member. As a voluntary member, you have access to in-service training opportunities and synergies arising
