vehicle/vehicle combination.

A distinction is made between the basic qualification and the accelerated basic qualification.

You acquire the accelerated basic qualification by attending a training course at a recognized training centre and successfully passing a theoretical examination at the Chamber of Industry and Commerce. Participation in the course is mandatory. For the theoretical examination, there are again simplifications for holders of certificates of professional competence in accordance with the professional access regulations.

If you obtained your driver's license before 10.9.2008 (bus) or 10.9.2009 (truck), you do not have to provide proof of basic qualification ("acquis").

You do not need to have a driving license for the accelerated basic qualification.

The type of test differs depending on the prerequisites:

1. Standard test "Accelerated initial qualification"

You must take the standard test if you do not have proof of a certificate of professional competence in road haulage or passenger transport ("transport manager test") for the type of transport in question, nor have you successfully passed an (accelerated) basic qualification test for the other type of transport.

1. Transfer examination "Accelerated basic qualification"

You can take the "Umsteiger" examination if you have already successfully passed the standard examination for the type of transport that is not the subject of the "Umsteiger" examination. For example, future bus drivers are taught how to behave in relation to passengers, as this was not part of their first basic qualification in freight transport.

This also applies to drivers who obtained their driving
