Teaser	Would you like to transfer a vehicle abroad that is subject to registration or license plate requirements but without a license plate? Then you may need an export license plate.
Volltext	If you want to transfer a vehicle abroad, you sometimes need an export license plate. This applies in the following cases: • Your vehicle is • subject to registration, but has been taken out of service • is exempt from registration and requires a license plate, but still without a license plate This applies regardless of whether you drive your vehicle • under its own power or • as a trailer abroad. With the export license plate, you will receive vehicle documents and, on request, an international registration certificate. The export license plate is limited to a maximum of one year and the vehicle requires a valid general inspection during this period. Both are valid for a limited period for the transfer of the vehicle.
