Volltext	As part of a simple vehicle register information request, they receive information about certain stored vehicle and owner data. They must demonstrate that they need this information to assert, secure and enforce or defend against legal claims in connection with participation in road traffic. There may also be a legitimate interest in bringing a private action for traffic violations. If necessary, evidence must be provided for this. In special cases, you will receive information on further vehicle and owner data as part of an extended vehicle register information request. Special reasons for this must be substantiated with evidence. A loss event for which you require vehicle registration information can occur through active or passive participation in road traffic (perpetrator, tortfeasor, victim, injured party, etc.). An indirect connection with participation in road traffic is sufficient. However, the participation must have a connection to the road traffic offense. This is particularly true if the vehicle is being driven. However, participation in road traffic can also
