Teaser	Do you have a school-age child? Then they will start their education at an elementary school.
Volltext	Elementary school is the first common level of the education system. It introduces your child to learning at school. Pupils learn to work and act independently and together. Your child will be taught to adopt important values, attitudes and behaviors. The elementary school supports pupils in their individual development and offers guidance. The elementary school bases its educational work on the respective developmental stage of the pupils. Your child should learn to fulfill the demands placed on them increasingly independently, to set their own tasks, to perform their own work and to take responsibility within the scope of their own abilities. They should be supported in expressing their opinions freely but respectfully and contributing to peaceful coexistence. verbal reports at the end of the school year and a recorded parent-teacher-child discussion in the middle of the second school year. At the end of the semester of grades three and four, the children receive pure grade reports, which are explained in a recorded parent-teacher-child discussion. At the end of the school year in grades three and four, pupils receive a report combining numerical grades and verbal explanations. By decision of the general conference and in consultation with the school parents' council, the assessment in grade 3 can continue to be exclusively verbal for the first semester or for the entire school year.

The following learning areas and subjects are taught: religion/ethics, German, mathematics, science, music, sport, visual arts/textile design/crafts and integrated foreign language work in English or French. No marks are awarded for foreign language lessons; instead, a portfolio is kept.

Bearbeitungsdauer

All children who are required to attend school in the following calendar year are registered by their parents in February at the elementary school responsible for them. As parents, you will receive a request for registration from the school authority. The elementary school responsible for your place of residence will inform you of the exact registration date.

Frist

Registration for the following school year usually takes place in the third or fourth full week of school after the summer vacation of the current school year.

weiterführende Informationen

In elementary school, lessons are organized in such a way that they are evenly and reliably distributed over the mornings. In the first school year, the children have at least four hours of lessons every morning. From the second year onwards, learning time is increased to five hours two days a week and from the third year onwards, every school morning lasts five hours. In addition to lessons, there is also plenty of time to relax, play and exercise.

Sachverhalt

In elementary school, your children are taught in grades 1 to 4. At the end of each grade, they move up to the next grade without being promoted. In the first two years, they do not receive numerical grades. Instead, you will receive a written report at the end of the school year, which describes your child's development through a coherent text or through standardized, grade-level ability profiles. At the end of the second year, there will also be a binding meeting between you, the teachers and your child to discuss your child's learning progress. In addition, you can, of course, arrange a meeting with your child's teacher at any time.

At the end of the semester in grades three and four, your child will receive a pure grade report, which will be explained to you in a meeting. At the end of the school year in grades three and four, there is a report that combines numerical grades and ability profiles to be marked with a cross. By decision of the whole school conference and in agreement with the school parents' council, the report in year three for the first semester or for the whole school year can continue to be issued exclusively in text form.

The following learning areas and subjects are taught: religion/ethics, German, mathematics, general studies, music, sport, art and foreign language work in English or French. No marks are awarded for foreign language lessons; instead, a verbal explanation is given in the report.

Hinweise

In addition, most elementary school have childcare facilities that children can attend before and after school.
