| Volltext | You need a permit if you want to transport people with a tram for a fee. To do this, you can submit an application to the competent licensing authority. There are various requirements for the carriage of passengers. These relate to the company that operates the tram and the characteristics of the tram. In general, the planned tram must serve the public transport interest and comply with regulations on climate protection and accessibility. The permit is granted for a maximum of 15 years, in certain cases for 22.5 years. It will be issued by the competent authority upon request and after examination of your documents. |
