Teaser	If you or your company would like to explore one or more mineral resources, you must apply for a mining permit from the relevant mining authority.
Volltext	The mining permit covers so-called non-mining mineral resources that are of particular economic importance. These include energy resources such as hard coal and lignite or crude oil and natural gas, as well as precious and non-ferrous metals and salts. The area covered by the permit is limited to the earth's surface and theoretically extends to the center of the earth. This does not apply to geothermal energy. Geothermal energy is only a non-mineable resource from a depth of 400 meters below ground level.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	• Permit application • Work program with the following information: • Period for which you are applying for a permit • Description of the planned work and the type of exploration • planned financial expenditure • Expected schedule for the exploration activities • in the case of commercial exploration permits, details of: • Applicant or the applicant • company management • Company name and registered office • Extract from the commercial register • Proof of your financial capacity depending on the type of exploration permit applied for: • by means of balance sheets, bank statements, loan commitments showing the extent to which expenses

Verfahrensablauf

You can apply for the permit online via the "BergPass" platform or in writing to your local mountain authority.

Apply for a permit online via the "BergPass" platform:

- Go to the "BergPass" online platform and log in.
- To register, you will need a bundID and an identity card or residence permit with an active online ID function.
- Call up the application form and fill it out completely and truthfully.
- Upload the required documents as a file and send the application.

Apply for a permit in writing to the responsible mining authority:

- Contact your responsible mining authority and coordinate the required application documents.
- Submit the application and all required documents to your competent mining authority.

Modul	Sachverhalt
	Further procedural steps: • The competent authority will review your application and the documents submitted. If any documents are missing, the authority will contact you. • The mining authority alone decides on the permit, but usually carries out a participation process: If your work program contains measures and areas that affect the remit of other authorities or the municipalities as planning authorities, it will then distribute it to all authorities affected by the project. • You will receive the notification electronically in the relevant mailbox (bundID or ELSTER company account) and information will be displayed in BergPass. • You will also receive a notification of costs. Pay the fees.
