Teaser
Volltext	Qualified patient transport is the transport of other sick, injured or needy persons who, according to medical assessment, require professional medical care or specially equipped rescue equipment during transport or for whom this is to be expected due to their condition. This qualified ambulance transport is generally ensured by the ground-based rescue service of the municipal authorities and partly supplemented by companies and aid organisations that have received a permit for such ambulance transports, and in some cases by the state's air ambulance.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	Documents may be required. Please contact the competent authority.
