Teaser	Private individuals and legal entities and associations of persons can apply to the local regulatory authority for the provision of information from the Central Trade Register.
Volltext	The Central Trade Register (GZR) is maintained by the German Federal Office of Justice. To put it simply, an excerpt from the Central Trade Register (GZR) is a certificate of good conduct under trade law. In order to check personal reliability, it is required, for example, by the regulatory authority before a business requiring a permit (e.g. restaurants, brokers) is approved. The information contains all decisions that are stored in the Central Trade Register about the applicant.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	Application as a natural person: Identity card or passport with last registration certificate Application as a legal entity: Identity card or passport with last registration certificate Excerpt from the commercial register as proof of power of representation Additionally in the case of a written application (exception): Application with official or publicly certified signature of the applicant If applicable, excerpt from the commercial register as proof of the power of representation
Voraussetzungen	The applicant must be a data subject. This is only the one about which entries can be made in the Central Trade Register.
