Teaser	As a professionally qualified person, you have special questions and individual requirements that you should clarify before starting a course of study.
Volltext	In order to be admitted to a university, it is generally necessary to have a school-leaving qualification. However, vocationally qualified students who have neither the Abitur nor the Fachhochschulreife can also study at a Fachhochschule or university under certain circumstances. The decision on the allocation of study places lies with the chosen university. You should therefore find out in advance from the university of your choice what the requirements are for admission to the desired course of study.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	The documents and supporting documents depend on the requirements. Please enquire at the respective university.
Voraussetzungen	These include, for example • Master craftsman's certificate (Meisterbrief) or an equivalent authorization • Further training qualification with at least 400 teaching hours (certificate of further training qualification and proof of the duration of the course) • Certificate of competency for nautical or technical
