Volltext	If you want to run a zoo, you need permission from the nature conservation authority. In addition to the construction and operation of a zoo, the expansion and significant changes also require approval. The nature conservation authority issues the permit on application for specific facilities and specific operators and sets a maximum number for the animal population of each species. According to the Federal Nature Conservation Act (BNatSchG), zoos are facilities in which animals of wild species are kept for at least seven days a year for the purpose of putting them on display.
