Volltext	A land survey is carried out on request or ex officio. Applications for boundary determination and boundary restoration are made if, for example, there are uncertainties about the course of property boundaries. The reason may be, for example, that a plot of land is to be acquired, but no boundary stones or boundary markers are recognizable on site, or that a development of a plot of land is planned and legally prescribed boundary distances must be observed. In the case of a boundary determination or boundary restoration, the location of the boundary points and thus the course of the parcel boundaries is determined. If necessary, the boundary points are marked at the same time, e.g. by boundary stones (demarcation). The results of the boundary determination, boundary restoration and demarcation are transferred to the official real estate cadastre.
