Teaser	If you intend to excavate public areas as part of a building project, you must apply for an excavation permit in advance.
Volltext	With the excavation certificate, you receive the approval of the road construction authority to carry out the construction project on its land. The road construction authority registers the construction project and thus has the opportunity to check the proper restoration during or after completion of the construction work and after the end of the warranty period. Each excavation changes the condition and quality of the traffic area. The coordination of excavations is important in order to minimize subsequent costs for the general public and the client of the excavation must be known in order to establish warranty claims. More legal certainty is created for all parties involved, as the excavation site is documented, from which the rights and obligations of the parties involved can be derived. Excavations in public traffic areas are therefore generally subject to approval. The excavation certificate must be kept by the company carrying out the work at the work site for inspection purposes.
