Teaser	The discharge of treated wastewater and precipitation water is subject to a levy. If the charge is not determined via the limit values specified in the water law notice, the party liable to pay the charge can declare this to the responsible authority.
Volltext	A wastewater levy is charged for the discharge of wastewater into a body of water or its disposal underground. The amount of the wastewater levy depends on the harmfulness of the wastewater and is intended to create an incentive for better purification measures. In principle, anyone who discharges wastewater into a body of water or allows it to seep into the ground is liable to pay wastewater tax. Wastewater is wastewater and rainwater. Charges are payable for these three areas: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Charge for large discharges • Levy for precipitation water • Charge for small discharges

	The district administrative authorities are responsible for setting the levy. While the wastewater levy for large-scale discharges and precipitation water is part of the operating costs of the municipal wastewater disposal plant, the respective municipality is liable to pay the levy for discharges from households of less than 8 m³/d of wastewater per day (small-scale dischargers), which then passes the levy on to the residents concerned by means of the "passing-on statutes" (more on this under "Related topics"). If the levy is not determined on the basis of the notice pursuant to Section 4 (1) to (3) of the Wastewater Levy Act, the party liable to pay the levy must provide the information required for the decision and submit the relevant documents to the competent authority. Expenses incurred for the construction or expansion of plants or facilities can be offset against the levy if a corresponding declaration is submitted.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The information in the declaration must be substantiated, if necessary. For the purpose of verification, the district administrative authority may require the submission of expert opinions and confirmations by an auditor.
Voraussetzungen	The declarations for the assessment of the wastewater levy must be submitted by the operator of a wastewater treatment plant (large-scale discharger) (e.g. companies or municipalities). An application for offsetting requires that the party liable to pay the levy has to pay or has already paid a levy in the offsetting period and has incurred expenses.
