Teaser	Members and insured persons of a regional social insurance institution can contact the supervisory authority to have its actions, procedures or measures legally reviewed.
Volltext	If you do not agree with the decision of a social insurance institution (health, long-term care, accident or pension insurance institution) with direct state responsibility or if you suspect another error in the administrative action of an institution, you have the option of submitting a complaint (so-called petition) to the supervisory authority. Social insurance institutions that can be contacted directly by the state are, for example, AOK Bayern, Kommunale Unfallversicherung Bayern, Bayerische Landesunfallkasse, Deutsche Rentenversicherung Bayern Süd, Nordbayern and Schwaben. If the personal conduct of employees of the social insurance institution is affected, the authority's self-administration - usually the board of directors or management - is responsible for this as part of the supervision of services. The social insurance institutions have the right to manage themselves. They are therefore financially and organizationally independent, but are subject to legal supervision by the supervisory authority. Supervision here means legal supervision, i.e. only checking whether the social insurance institution complies with the law and other legislation. The supervisory authority is therefore not able to dictate to the social insurance institutions how they should exercise their discretion and decide in certain situations. Consequently, it cannot make any direct insurance or benefit-related decisions in matters concerning insured persons. The supervisory review of the complaint is carried out exclusively on the basis of the administrative

	documents submitted by the insurance provider. The supervisory authority does not carry out its own investigations, for example into the facts of the case or in the medical field. As the supervisory authority acts exclusively in the public interest, there is no entitlement to a specific measure by the supervisory authority. Instead, the individual legal protection of the individual is guaranteed by the courts.

If necessary, it is advisable to enclose copies of relevant documents (e.g. copies of relevant notices, judgments). If complaints are not made by the person concerned, but by a representative (e.g. spouse, relative or acquaintance), a power of attorney is usually required for data protection reasons.
