Teaser	A foreigner living in Germany is entitled to naturalization under certain conditions.
Volltext	Naturalization is the granting of German citizenship to a foreigner. It must be applied for and is carried out by issuing a special naturalization certificate. A foreigner whose identity and citizenship have been established and who has been legally resident in Germany for five years must be naturalized upon application. Residence is lawful if the foreigner is in Germany as an EU citizen entitled to freedom of movement or as another foreigner with the permission of the foreigners authority (e.g. with a settlement permit). Residence is habitual or permanent if the foreigner is willing to live in Germany permanently and permanent residence is made possible. In principle, there is no entitlement to naturalization if the foreigner <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • is not committed to the free democratic basic order of the Federal Republic of Germany and Germany's special historical responsibility;

Modul

Sachverhalt

- does not have sufficient knowledge of the German language;
- has no knowledge of the legal and social order or of living conditions in Germany, unless the person concerned is a former guest worker or contract worker of the former GDR or their spouse who joined them at the same time;
- has been convicted of a criminal offense;
- is engaged in anti-constitutional activities;
- is married to more than one spouse at the same time or shows by his/her behavior that he/she disregards the equal rights of men and women laid down in the Basic Law.

The district offices and municipal administrations of the independent cities decide on naturalization applications.

Erforderliche Unterlagen

- Citizenship application Pre-printed forms are available from the district administration authority.
- Passport or identity card for EU citizens
- Demonstration of knowledge of the legal and social order and the living conditions in Germany through presentation of a certificate of successful citizenship test completion or a certificate of graduation from a German academic secondary school
- Proof of sufficient oral and written German language skills (school reports, certificates, etc.)
- Supporting documents proving the foreign national's income, retirement provisions, medical insurance and long-term care insurance, also for his or her dependents, where applicable
- Upon reasoned request by the competent authority, proof of marital status (e.g. birth certificate, marriage certificate if applicable, divorce decree if applicable)
