Teaser	If you want to guard the lives or property of other people on a commercial basis, you need a permit. You may only use reliable guards to carry out your guarding activities.
Volltext	Commercial guarding is subject to authorization. Guarding within the meaning of § 34 a of the Trade, Commerce and Industry Regulation Act (GewO) refers to activities aimed at protecting the lives or property of third parties from interference by third parties. Guarding requires an active custodial activity (e.g. supervision or checks). The guarding must consist of human activity. A security company can be a natural or legal person. In the case of partnerships (e.g. OHG, KG), each managing partner is a trader and requires a permit. In the case of legal entities, the license is issued to the GmbH or AG. The personal licensing requirements (reliability, proof of successful completion of an expert examination, orderly financial circumstances) must be met by the trader or the legal representatives of a legal entity. Reliability is checked by the licensing authority in particular on the basis of an unrestricted extract from the Federal Central Register to be obtained by the authority, a statement from the police and an extract from the Central Trade Register to be requested by the applicant. Only persons (guards) whose reliability has been checked by the authority on the basis of an unrestricted extract from the Federal Central Criminal Register and a statement from the competent police authority and who have also been instructed by the Chamber of Industry and Commerce for at least 40 hours on the legal and technical principles necessary for the exercise of the activity or have successfully completed an examination of expertise at the Chamber of

Sachverhalt

Industry and Commerce may be entrusted with guarding tasks. For the following security activities, security guards must also successfully pass an examination of competence at the IHK:

- Patrols in public traffic areas or in domestic areas with actual public traffic;
- Protection against shoplifters;
- Guarding the entrance area of nightclubs;
- Guarding reception facilities in accordance with Section 44 of the Asylum Act, shared accommodation in accordance with Section 53 of the Asylum Act or other properties and facilities that are used for the official accommodation of asylum seekers or refugees, even on a temporary basis, in a managerial capacity;
- guarding large events with protected access in a managerial capacity.

The security company must register the security guards via the security guard register. The authorities have rights of information and inspection vis-à-vis tradespeople pursuant to Section 34a GewO in accordance with Section 29 GewO. At the request of the authorities, the parties concerned must provide the information required to monitor business operations. Furthermore, the authorities are authorized to enter the business premises in order to carry out inspections and visits.
