Teaser	Help with running the household mainly includes looking after children and housework if no one else in the household can take on these tasks.
Volltext	Persons with their own household who are not entitled to household help receive help to continue the household as part of social assistance if none of the family members can run the household but it is necessary to continue the household (e.g. in the event of illness or death of the housewife or mother). The assistance includes the personal care of household members and other activities necessary for the continuation of the household (e.g. personal hygiene of children, house cleaning, laundry, supervision of household chores). If necessary assistance cannot be provided by close relatives or by way of neighborly help, the reasonable costs for a specialist (e.g. home and family caregiver) will be covered. In special cases, the costs of accommodating family members outside the family (e.g. in a home) will also be covered if this is necessary in addition to or instead of continuing to run the household.

Verfahrensablauf

You can first informally notify the responsible office of your need for assistance.

A fully completed social assistance application can be submitted at a later date.

As the responsible office can only grant assistance from the time it learns of the applicant's need for assistance, the need for assistance should be notified as soon as possible. This notification can be made in writing, by telephone or in person.

Once the application has been submitted, the documents you have submitted will be checked and, if necessary, the need for care will be determined.

Your income and financial circumstances will also be
