Teaser	Are you registered in the Register of Craftsmen with a craft requiring a license and would like to practice another craft? Then, under certain conditions, you can apply for a license to practice another trade.
Volltext	Persons who already practise a craft subject to licensing and wish to expand their commercial activity to another craft subject to licensing or essential activities of such a craft have the option of applying for a license to practise. In this respect, proof of the necessary knowledge and skills is required, whereby previous professional experience and activities are also taken into account. It is irrelevant on what basis the existing entry in the register of craftsmen was made (e.g. master craftsman's certificate, old journeyman's regulation, exemption permit). The respective business owner is entitled to apply. You can apply for a license to practice if you <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • are already entered in the register of craftsmen with a craft requiring a license. • you want to work in another craft requiring a license. • you can provide evidence of your practical and theoretical knowledge and skills in the trade you are applying for. The master craftsman's examination serves as a reference for the theoretical knowledge and skills to be proven. If you do not have any evidence or this is not sufficient, you can also apply for a license to practice. In this case, you will then have to prove your knowledge by passing a specialist examination.
