Teaser	The providers of certain private vocational schools receive a class subsidy (health bonus) in addition to the statutory operating subsidy and - indirectly - the state tuition fee reimbursement if they waive the collection of additional tuition fees.
Volltext	Purpose In order to make it easier for interested young people to choose these training and career paths, the Free State of Bavaria pays an additional voluntary subsidy to the providers of the above-mentioned types of schools over and above the statutory school funding. This voluntary subsidy is linked to the voluntary waiver by the provider of the direct collection of school fees from the pupils. With this funding, the Free State aims to motivate as many young people as possible to choose one of the following professions, which are of particular importance to society in view of the severe shortage of skilled workers in these areas of healthcare: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Dietician, • occupational therapist,

Object

The providers of private vocational schools for dieticians, occupational therapists, speech therapists, massage therapists, orthoptics, pharmaceutical-technical assistants, physiotherapists and podiatrists are legally entitled to operating cost subsidies and - indirectly - to reimbursement of school fees within the framework of state school funding.

In addition, the Free State of Bavaria pays a health bonus in the form of a class subsidy for private vocational schools in the aforementioned training occupations as a voluntary benefit without a legal entitlement within the scope of available budget funds (budget proviso). The school provider may then not demand any additional school fees from its pupils over and above the state funding.

Recipients of funding

The sponsors of the aforementioned private vocational schools are eligible to apply.

Type and amount

This is a grant. The exact amount of the grant depends on the class size and the type of schooling (full-time or part-time).
