Teaser	You need a cab permit if you want to transport people commercially by cab.
Volltext	Transport by cab is the transportation of passengers in passenger vehicles which the operator keeps available at officially approved locations and with which he carries out journeys to a destination specified by the passenger. The operator may also accept transportation orders during a journey or at the place of business. New applicants receive the permit for a maximum of two years. An extension is granted for a maximum of five years. Holders of a cab permit have the following obligations: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Duty to operate You must maintain operations, including at night if necessary. • Duty to provide transportation You may only refuse journeys (even short ones) if the driver cannot reasonably be expected to provide transportation. This is the case, for example, if a person is heavily intoxicated. • Fare obligation Within the compulsory travel area applicable to you, the price for a journey is based on the locally prescribed transport charges. The compulsory fare area is usually the urban or rural district where the company is based. The equipment of the cabs is prescribed. The following regulations apply:
