Teaser	For existing residential buildings you can receive energy advice and/or an energy pass.
Volltext	You can receive energy advice for existing residential buildings. The Investment and Development Bank supports energy advice from an authorized energy pass consultant. The Hamburg Energy Pass offers you a decision-making aid for choosing suitable measures to reduce energy and heating costs in your residential building. The pass is a multi-page building-related report that not only shows the current energy status of the building, but also shows you energy-saving potential and sensible renovation options.
