Teaser	In order to be able to be appointed and work as a dangerous goods officer, you must have proof of training. The training certificate will be issued to you by the IHK after you have attended a training course and passed an examination.
Volltext	As soon as a company is involved in the transport of dangerous goods, a dangerous goods officer must be appointed. The training certificate of the dangerous goods officer must correspond to the mode of transport on which the company transports dangerous goods. There are training courses and exams for the Road traffic, Rail transport, Inland waterway transport and Maritime transport You can take the exam as an initial exam, supplementary exam and repeat exam. During the initial test, you must provide evidence of at least 22.5 hours of training for the tested mode of transport. If you already have proof of this, but would like to extend it to an additional mode of transport, take the so-called supplementary test. To do this, you must provide evidence of 7.5 hours of training for the additional mode of transport. If you have evidence of training that is about to expire, you can take an extension exam. To do this, you need to present your training certificate. Please note the following points for the test: The test duration depends on the number of tested modes of transport. It is between 100 (one mode of transport) and 250 minutes (maximum of four modes of transport) for the basic test and between 50 and a maximum of 125 minutes for the extension test. The duration of the supplementary examination is between 50 (one mode of transport) and 150 minutes (maximum of three modes of transport). The examination is carried out in writing. You can use the relevant regulation texts for the respective modes of transport as well as a non-programmable pocket calculator as an aid. The use of other electronic aids is not permitted. You can take the exam regardless of the training center and your place of residence at any IHK in Germany.
