Teaser	I recommend that you provide a consent form from you for your minor child who is travelling abroad without parents.
Volltext	If a child travels abroad without being accompanied by his or her parents or one of his or her parents, he or she should be given an informal consent form in addition to the required identification documents. This must state that the legal guardian(s) agrees to the trip abroad. The consent form should contain the following information: Personal details of the child, Personal details and contact details of the legal guardian, Itinerary and if applicable, the personal details of the adult accompanying person(s). In case of a name difference, the child should also provide a copy his birth certificate and the ID data page of the legal guardian carry with them. Depending on the destination country, signatures of the consent form must be certified, the consent form must be in the
