Volltext	Income tax returns from 2019 can be made much easier: Much tax-relevant data is already electronically available to the tax office. The electronic data no longer have to be entered in the income tax return; the tax office automatically takes the data into account. The paper forms have been redesigned: Areas for which electronic data is usually available are highlighted in color and generally no longer have to be filled out. Areas affected are wage dates, pensions or certain contributions to health insurance / long-term care insurance and old-age provision. If no additional or deviating values are available, annexes N, R and precautionary expenses no longer need to be submitted.

Hinweise	The electronic submission of the tax return via "My ELSTER - your online tax office" is even more convenient. There, the data available to the tax office can be transferred to the tax return with a click of the mouse (pre-filled tax return, see links).
