Teaser	If you are unemployed and want to start a business, you can apply for a start-up grant from the Employment Agency. For this you need the opinion of an expert on your business concept.
Volltext	Questions about funding should first be clarified with the relevant employment agency. You can also apply for a start-up subsidy there. A prerequisite for the start-up subsidy from the employment agency is that an expert body has checked your business idea and considered it viable. You can choose the contact person for the statement. This can be the Chamber of Industry and Commerce, for example. During the viability check, your foundation concept is checked for plausibility and traceability. The decisive factor is whether you can live off the implementation of the business idea after a start-up phase. In addition to the Chamber of Industry and Commerce, other bodies can also assess the viability of your project: chambers of crafts, professional chambers, trade associations, credit institutions, Other (tax consultants, auditors, start-up initiatives, etc.) In the event of justified doubts, the employment agency can again request the submission of an opinion from a competent body.
