Teaser	Would you like to work in Germany as a medical technologist for functional diagnostics? Then you need a government permit. You can have your foreign professional qualification recognized for this.
Volltext	The profession of medical technologist for functional diagnostics is regulated in Germany. This means that in order to work as a medical technologist for functional diagnostics in Germany, you need a state permit. With the permit, you can use the job title "medical technologist for functional diagnostics" and work in the profession. Even if you have a professional qualification from a so-called third country, you can still obtain state permission from the relevant authority in Germany. Third countries are all countries that are not part of the European Union (EU), the European Economic Area (EEA) or Switzerland. To obtain permission, you must have your foreign professional qualifications recognized. During the recognition process, the responsible body compares your professional qualification from abroad with the German professional qualification and checks their equivalence. The equivalence of the professional qualification is an important prerequisite for the granting of state permission. In addition to the equivalence of your professional qualifications, you must also meet other requirements for the permit to be issued. Other requirements include, for example, sufficient German language skills and health suitability. If your professional qualification comes from the EU, EEA or Switzerland, different rules apply. You can also apply for the procedure from abroad.

Voraussetzungen	You have successfully completed training as a medical technologist for functional diagnostics or medical technologist for functional diagnostics outside the European Union (EU), the European Economic Area (EEA) or Switzerland and are entitled to work there independently as a medical technologist for functional diagnostics or medical technologist for functional diagnostics to work. You want to work in Germany as a medical technologist for functional diagnostics or medical technologist for functional diagnostics. Personal Suitability: You are reliable to work as a Functional Diagnostic Medical Technologist and have no criminal record. Medical suitability: You can work mentally and physically as a Medical Technologist for Functional Diagnostics or Medical Technologist for Functional Diagnostics. You have German language skills at the required language level. This is usually language level B2 according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR).
Kosten	at least EUR 225, depending on the effort up to EUR 600 plus EUR 42 for the certificate
Verfahrensablauf	application You submit an application to the relevant authority for permission to use the professional title "Medical Technologist for Functional Diagnostics" or "Medical Technologist for Functional Diagnostics". You can submit the application with the documents to the relevant authority or send it by post. Do not send originals. Sometimes you can also send the application electronically. Verification of equivalence The responsible body will then check whether you meet all the requirements. An important requirement is the equivalence of your professional qualification. The responsible body will compare your professional qualification from abroad with the German professional qualification as a medical technologist for functional diagnostics or a medical technologist for functional diagnostics. The professional qualification is equivalent if there are no significant differences between your foreign professional qualification and the German professional qualification. Possible results of the test If your professional qualification is equivalent, your foreign professional qualification will be recognized. The responsible body can confirm the result in writing. You must still meet the other requirements. You will then be permitted to use the professional title "Medical Technologist for Functional Diagnostics" or "Medical Technologist for Functional Diagnostics". Are there significant differences between your professional qualification and the German professional qualification? Perhaps you can compensate for the differences through your professional experience, other knowledge or skills (lifelong learning). You must provide evidence of your professional experience. Knowledge and skills must be certified by an authority in the state in which you acquired the knowledge or skills. However, it may be that the essential differences cannot be compensated for by this knowledge. In this case, the responsible body will tell you the essential differences between your professional qualification and the German professional qualification. It will also tell you why you cannot compensate for these essential differences. The responsible body will also tell you about compensatory measures you can take to compensate for the significant differences. If you decide not to take any compensatory measures, your professional qualification will not be recognized. You will then not be allowed to work in Germany as a medical technologist for functional diagnostics. Compensatory measures There are various compensatory measures: Adaptation period: The adaptation period lasts a maximum of three years. Knowledge test: The knowledge test tests your knowledge in certain subjects and areas. The knowledge test consists of an oral and a practical part. You can usually choose between an adaptation course or a knowledge test. If you successfully complete the compensatory measure and meet all other requirements, you will be permitted to use the professional title "Medical Technologist for Functional Diagnostics" or "Medical Technologist for Functional Diagnostics".
