Teaser	If there is no will or inheritance contract from the testator and there are no other heirs besides you, you are the sole heir according to legal succession. As proof of your status as an heir, you can apply for a sole inheritance certificate from the probate court.
Volltext	If the testator (the deceased person) did not leave a will or conclude an inheritance contract, legal succession occurs. In many cases you will need proof of your inheritance rights. The sole inheritance certificate shows that you alone are the legal successor to the testator. This gives you, for example, access to the deceased person's bank account or you can request entries in the land register.
Erforderliche Unterlagen	To prove your status as an heir in the case of legal succession (if there is no will or inheritance contract), you must submit various documents. This involves documenting all events in your family that are relevant to inheritance law and that relate to the testator. These can include marriage, divorce, births of children, deaths, renunciations of inheritance and the like. If you are not sure which documents you must submit, you can ask the responsible probate court. Your official photo ID (identity card or passport) Death certificate of

Voraussetzungen

You can only apply for a certificate of inheritance if you are the sole heir.

Kosten

The amount of the fees depends on the value of the estate after deducting the debts of the testator. For example, the issuing of a certificate of sole heir by the probate court costs for an estate value of EUR 30,000 EUR 125.00, for an estate value of EUR 100,000 EUR 273.00 and for an estate value of EUR 500,000 EUR 935.00. In addition, you must pay fees of the same amount for the notarization of an affidavit at the probate court or at a notary. In addition, there may be clerical expenses and sales tax. Applicants residing abroad are required to pay an advance on costs.

Verfahrensablauf

You apply for a certificate of sole heir at the responsible probate court (usually the court in whose district the deceased last lived): Submit an application there for the issuance of a sole inheritance certificate. To do so, use the online service "Make an appointment to submit an application for a certificate of inheritance"

Modul
Sachverhalt

. Using the online service, you can submit an application for an appointment to submit an application for a certificate of inheritance to the probate court responsible for you. Alternatively, you can also use the form provided. Attach all required documents. You can also submit the application through an authorised person, such as a notary or a lawyer, or have it recorded in court. The district court will contact you to arrange an appointment. Make a personal sworn statement at the appointment before the district court or before a notary. This confirms that you are not aware of anything that would contradict the accuracy of the information you provided in the application for a certificate of inheritance. This is not necessary if the district court waives it. If a notary certifies the declaration under oath, this person can at the same time certify the application for a certificate of inheritance. The local court checks your eligibility and issues the certificate of inheritance.

Bearbeitungsdauer

The processing time depends on the complexity of the inheritance case and the respective local court.

Hinweise

Please note: The probate court does not provide legal advice. Please contact the persons authorized to provide legal advice. These are lawyers or notaries. The Public Legal Advice Service (ÖRA) offers low-cost legal advice for people with low incomes.

Rechtsbehelf

Complaint If there are conflicting interests in the inheritance certificate procedure before the probate court, the probate court may not issue the certificate of inheritance immediately. The district court issues a decision in which it states that it considers the facts necessary to justify the application for a certificate of inheritance to have been established. According to Sections 58 and 63 FamFG, those involved then have the opportunity to lodge a so-called appeal against this decision within a period of one month. The certificate of inheritance will only be issued if no one has lodged a complaint against the probate court's decision after the one-month period has expired and the decision has therefore become legally binding. In addition, according to Section 59 FamFG, the person who was unable to convince the probate court with their arguments in the inheritance certificate procedure and whose rights are thereby impaired can file a complaint. challenge By applying for the certificate of inheritance, the inheritance is automatically deemed to have been accepted - it is then no longer possible to renounce the inheritance. Heirs can then only avert the inheritance by contesting the acceptance of the inheritance. However, a reason must be proven that justifies the challenge (for example certain errors). It is
