As a person required to leave the country, you can obtain a work permit.

Volltext

An employment toleration permit is a special form of toleration for people in Germany who are required to leave the country. An employment toleration permit allows you to stay in Germany temporarily in order to pursue employment.
 To obtain a work permit, you must submit an application and meet various requirements. This work permit protects you from deportation as long as you continue to meet the requirements.

Erforderliche Unterlagen

- Recognized identity document (e.g. passport, passport replacement, ID card)
- Rejection of asylum decision or toleration
- Employment contract
- Salary statements for the last 12 months
- Confirmation of landlord, proof of rent
- Language certificate

The documents and information must generally be submitted in German. In individual cases, the responsible authority may require less or more evidence.

Voraussetzungen

- You have been staying in Germany for at least 12 months without interruption.
- You have been in continuous employment subject to social insurance contributions for at least 12 months with a minimum of 20 hours per week.
- Your employer is not a temporary employment agency.
- You can secure your livelihood completely independently through your employment and are not dependent on social benefits.
- Your identity has been fully verified or you have

If you apply online, the responsible office will contact you after receiving your application to make an appointment. • During the appointment, your identity and documents will be checked (please bring your documents, preferably in the original, with you to the appointment). • If your application is approved, you may be issued with the employment permit at the appointment. If your application is rejected, you will receive a rejection notice.
Bearbeitungsdauer	Processing may take several weeks.
Frist	There is no set deadline within which an application for employment toleration must be submitted. However, you should submit the application as soon as the requirements are met to ensure a seamless transition and protection from deportation. A work permit is usually issued for 30 months. However, this duration can vary depending on the individual circumstances and the decisions of the responsible authority.
