The current legal requirements for passport photos can be found under "Further information" - "Notes on digital passport photos".

German citizens must carry a passport with them and present it on request when leaving or re-entering the Federal Republic of Germany. However, the holder of a valid German passport also fulfills his or her statutory identification obligation within Germany. In this respect, the passport replaces the identity card, although, unlike the latter, it does not contain the holder's address. The identity card, on the other hand, is only sufficient for domestic use, but not generally for entry into other countries - exceptions exist in particular for travel within the European Union (EU).

A passport can also be applied for for persons under the age of 18. You can find all information on this in our service description "Applying for a passport - for people under 18" (see: <https://www.service.bremen.de/sixcms/detail.php?gsid=bremen128.c.1156018.de>).

Volltext

The validity period of the passport depends on the age of the passport holder. Before the age of 24, the passport is valid for six years, and after the age of 24, for ten years. A temporary passport is valid for a maximum of one year.

Even before the expiry date, a passport or a temporary passport is invalid if it does not allow the identity of the holder to be established properly or if it has been altered or if entries are missing or, with the exception of information on the place of residence, are incorrect.

In general, passports are issued with 32 pages. For an additional fee, you can obtain a passport with 48 pages (for frequent travelers with additional pages for visa entries).

Note: Passports are produced centrally by the Bundesdruckerei in Berlin. Temporary passports are produced by the passport office.

It is not possible to change personal data (e.g. name after marriage) in the passport. In these cases, a new passport must be applied for if necessary.

When traveling to the USA or Canada, please note:

German citizens must also be in possession of an electronic entry permit for visa-free entry into the USA - in addition to a regular (machine-readable Bordeaux red) passport - which can be applied for via the electronic travel authorization systems of the USA or Canada.
