You have a professional qualification from abroad and would like to work in Germany? You can apply for recognition of your professional qualification at the competent office.

Volltext

You apply for recognition at the competent authority in the federal state in which you wish to work. The procedure for recognition is called: Equivalency assessment (BQFG Land). Please note: Your qualification must be state-recognized in the state in which you trained. Informal or non-formal qualifications cannot be officially recognized in Germany.

There are around 200 vocational and technical school qualifications in Germany. To apply for an equivalence assessment, you must identify a German training qualification or further education qualification. This German qualification must match your professional qualification. We therefore recommend that you do this: Seek advice before submitting your application!

In Bremen, equivalence certificates can be issued for the following qualifications:

- Business economist
- Business economist - personal services
- Biological-technical assistant
- Chemical-technical assistant
- Specialist in home economics and family care

- Foreign language correspondent
- Gymnastics teacher
- Technical design assistant - graphics
- Information technology assistant
- Commercial assistant - foreign languages
- Commercial assistant - information processing
- Childcare assistant
- Mathematical-technical assistant
- Socio-educational assistant
- Technician - Chemical Engineering
- Technician - Electrical Engineering
- Technician - Computer Science
- Technician - Food Technology
- Technician - Mechanical Engineering
- Technician - Mechatronics

When determining equivalence, the competent authority compares your professional qualification with a specific German professional qualification in the federal state in which you wish to work. Important criteria for the comparison are the content and duration of the training.

You will receive a decision on the outcome of the procedure. The decision will state your existing professional qualifications and any missing professional qualifications. The decision enables employers to better assess your professional qualifications. This can make it easier for you to find a job. For skilled workers abroad outside the European Union (EU), the European Economic Area (EEA) and Switzerland, a recognition procedure is usually a prerequisite for obtaining a visa.

You can obtain initial advice on the application, procedure, costs, duration and possibilities for financial support, for example, from the advice centers of the IQ network ("Integration through Qualification").

You can also apply for equivalence assessment from abroad.

Verfahrensablauf

You submit an application for recognition to the competent body. You can send the application by mail, send it electronically or hand it in personally. You can also submit the application from abroad.

The competent body receives the application. It will confirm to you after a maximum of one month that the application has arrived. When the competent body has received all the documents from you, it will process your application. The competent body then checks: Is your professional qualification equivalent to a specific professional qualification in the chosen federal state? In doing so, the competent body compares the qualifications using certain criteria. Important criteria are the content and duration of the training. The competent body also takes into account your professional experience, your other certificates of competence and qualifications when carrying out the equivalence test.

You will receive a decision with the result of the procedure. You will receive recognition if your professional qualification and the German professional qualification are equivalent.

Sometimes there are significant differences between the professional qualifications. The differences are listed in your notification. You can use this decision to obtain further qualifications and later submit a new application for an equivalence determination.

If your professional qualification is not equivalent at all, you will not receive recognition.

Bearbeitungsdauer

Depending on the workload and complexity of the review, there may be fluctuations in the processing time.
