Teaser	If you are working or being employed in the food sector for the first time, you will need a certificate from the public health department confirming that you have been instructed in infection protection.
Volltext	Do you produce food, process it or place it on the market? Do you come into direct or indirect contact with this food (e.g. serving or washing plates and cutlery)? Would you like to work or be employed in kitchens in restaurants, canteens and cafés or in communal catering facilities? Then you will need a certificate from the public health department that is no more than 3 months old. This proves that you have successfully completed an instruction course on infection protection measures. The aim of the instruction is to enable you to recognize your own symptoms of infectious diseases or symptoms of employees at an early stage. You should also be able to prevent the spread of infections and contamination of food and assess when you should no longer carry out your work if you have certain symptoms. The certificate is issued by the public health department.
