Sachverhalt

---

- The married name can be redefined as a joint double name - with or without a hyphen.
- The married name determined before 01.05.2025 can be revoked.

Determination of a double name for a spouse

The person whose name has not become the married name can add their maiden name or the surname they used before the married name was determined to the married name. The double name is joined by a hyphen and may only consist of two names.

From 01.05.2025:

- Double name with or without hyphen

Revocation of the double name for a spouse

The declaration of prefixing or suffixing can be revoked at any time. It is not possible to re-define a double name. A jointly determined double name cannot be revoked.

Reassumption of a previously used name

After the dissolution of the marriage, the surname at birth or the surname used until the determination of the married name can be adopted again. This declaration is irrevocable.

Hinweise	The declaration can be made at any domestic registry office. The registry office that keeps the marriage register is responsible for the "receipt" and therefore for the validity of the declaration. The registry office keeping the register issues the certificate of the name. If the marriage takes place abroad, the registry office of the place of residence is responsible. Example: The marriage was concluded at the registry office in Cologne, the spouses both live in Bremerhaven. The registry office in Bremerhaven can record the declaration for the determination of the married name and sends it to the registry office in Cologne. The declaration becomes effective the moment it is received by the registry office in Cologne. The Cologne registry office sends the certificate of the name change to the spouses. The certified copy of the marriage register to be submitted should not be older than 6 months.
